

Service Overview

Cavendish Markets provides energy-focused, broking services. Cavendish Markets is regulated in the Netherlands by the Authority of the Financial Markets (Autoriteit Financiële Markten) (“AFM”) and is permitted to receive and transmit orders in relation to one or more financial instruments. Cavendish Markets also provides broking services in physical gas and power products in the European and UK wholesale markets, which fall under the REMIT regulation. Cavendish Markets is an ACER registered OMP. These activities are supervised within the Netherlands by the Authority for Consumers and Markets (Autoriteit Consument and Markt) (“ACM”).

Broking Services

Cavendish Markets arranges deals via voice-broking, in a range of products, some of which are classified as financial instruments and others not. Cavendish Markets services are only suitable and available to entities that can be classified and wish to be treated as either a Professional Client or an Eligible Counterparty.

Financial Instruments

Cavendish Markets arranging deals in two categories of financial instruments:

- 1) Centrally-Cleared Instruments, supported by a Recognised Investment Exchange (“RIE”); and
- 2) Bespoke, financially settled, OTC structured products.

The instruments in the first category include examples of both financially and physically settled derivatives.

Cavendish Markets acts as an intermediary to arrange deals in these products, however, the deals are transmitted onwards, for execution. Two routes to execution are supported, discussed below. Cavendish Markets does not operate an execution venue for financial. Transaction reporting obligations remain with the transacting counterparties.

Give-Up Deals

For centrally-cleared contracts, Cavendish Markets supports multilateral, voice-brokered markets. Once a matching bid and offer are found, contingent agreements to trade are transmitted to the trade registration facilities of the relevant exchange, whereby the deals are given-up to the client’s nominated clearing broker. Cavendish Markets supports contracts traded on ICE and EEX. For these deals, the client will face the central clearinghouse. The counterparty with whom the deal was arranged remains anonymous. To benefit from this service, the client must be a member of the relevant clearing house or else have adequate agreements in place with a member.

Bilateral Introductory Service

Cavendish Markets also offers an introductory arranging service for bespoke, financially settled OTC structured products. These contracts are tailored to each specific deal, based on the specific needs of the counterparties. Cavendish Markets does not provide or require a specific contract template.

Multilateral quoting is not possible for these products – deals are arranged on a bilateral basis. Once arranged, the deals proceed via “name-passing”, for bilateral execution, subject to contract and credit. These products typically have large counterparty-specific credit risk and so cannot be resold onwards, to a different counterparty.

Non-Financial Instruments

Cavendish Markets arranges deals in physical gas and power products in the European and UK wholesale markets, for commercial purposes. These deals involve flexible, OTC contracts and do not include contracts supported by an RIE. For the more commonly traded OTC contracts, Cavendish Markets supports multilateral, voice markets. For the more bespoke products, deals are arranged on a bilateral basis.

Once a deal is arranged, Cavendish Markets introduces the parties via name-passing, for bilateral execution, subject to contract and credit, often on EFET terms. These products have significant counterparty-specific credit risk and so cannot be resold to a different counterparty. It is reasonably assumed that in all the non-financial physical deals arranged, the seller expects to deliver the energy to the buyer, and buyer to take delivery of it.

These products are not considered, nor treated, as financial instruments. Instead, they fall under the REMIT regulation. Cavendish Markets is an ACER registered OMP. Cavendish Markets reports transactions to ACER via either of the following RRM: Equias eRR and Trayport Complete RRM. To benefit from this service, the client must be signed up with one or other of these RRMs.

Implicit Allocation

Cavendish Markets is an Implicit Allocation partner for the BBL and IUK interconnector gas pipelines. As such, Cavendish Markets has the right to facilitate the allocation of gas transmission capacity for these pipelines, in accordance with the Implicit Allocation Mechanism ("IAM"), as specified in the Capacity Allocation Mechanism ("CAM") network code. Sales via the IAM involve the allocation of capacity directly from the Transmission System Operator ("TSO") to the client. In order to participate in the IAM, the client must be a registered shipper of the TSO.

Methods of Communication

In the course of providing broking services, Cavendish Markets will receive and transmit client orders. Orders are received and transmitted via a number of recorded media. Specifically, the Eikon and ICE Chat instant messaging services, the Cloud 9 VoIP service, normal telephonic services, email and CM's own PLEXHUB bulletin-board. Other communication may also occur via postal and courier services. Cavendish Markets services are official provided in English.

Standardised Documents

Once a deal has been arranged, the counterparties will receive a standardised deal confirmation file, by email, in a PDF, XML and JSON format, containing all the required information. Furthermore, clients can request to receive daily summaries of all their arranged deals. These standardised "trade recap" files are provided on a T+0 basis, at the end of the trading day. These are again sent by email, in PDF, XML and JSON formats.

Acting with Integrity

Cavendish Markets aims to deliver the highest levels of professional service. Cavendish Markets has a responsibility to treat its clients honestly, fairly and professionally, in accordance with the best interests of its clients. All clients are treated equally.

In the course of providing broking services, Cavendish Markets both receives and transmits orders from and to clients. These orders are all treated homogeneously. Furthermore, Cavendish Markets strives to ensure that all the deals it arranges are suitable and reflect the intentions of the client. Cavendish Markets will always act in accordance with the best interests of their clients when transmitting client orders to other entities for execution. A copy of our Best Execution and Order Handling Policy is available on request.

Care is taken to ensure any conflicts of interest are identified, managed and mitigated. Should any material conflicts of interest, either actual or potential, remain, Cavendish Markets has a duty to declare these clearly, to you, before providing you any further services. A copy of our Conflicts of Interest Policy is available on request.

Cavendish Markets takes all reasonable measures to ensure the security of your personal data and has a detailed policy indicating what personal data it will process, why it needs to process these data and how it will continue to store these data, after the initial processing use has ended. A copy of our data Privacy Policy is available on request.

Onboarding

Cavendish Markets have a responsibility to know with whom it is conducting business. As such, all new clients are required to go through an onboarding process. We therefore ask all new clients to provide a range of information. This will be request via a KYC form. We also are obliged to revisit and review this information periodically, so will re-request this information from time to time.
